

Article Overview

Burundi has several reputable suppliers and manufacturers of spectrometers, including Aditya Systems and Laboid International, offering both mass spectrometers and spectrophotometers with reliable delivery and support.

Key Suppliers

Aditya Systems (LADA brand) is recognized as a leading manufacturer and supplier of spectrometers in Burundi. They provide a range of spectrometer models with various customizations, manufactured using high-grade materials and advanced technology. Their services include on-time delivery and 24/7 customer support, making them a trusted choice for local and international clients. Laboid International specializes in spectrophotometers and other precision laboratory instruments. They offer products designed for research, industrial applications, and clinical diagnostics. Laboid ensures high-quality, durable, and user-friendly equipment, with a focus on prompt delivery and seamless supply chain management. They are also active as exporters, providing reliable instruments globally. Mass Spectrometer Distributors serving Burundi include companies like KRSS Europe B.V., which supply high-end refurbished analytical instruments from brands such as Agilent, Perkin-Elmer, Shimadzu, Thermo-Electron, and Varian. These distributors provide stationary and portable mass spectrometers, OES spectrometers, and XRF spectrometers, along with maintenance, servicing, and user training. Agilent Technologies also maintains a presence in Burundi, offering support and contact services for their analytical instruments, including spectrometers.
