Pricing Overview

In Zambia, a standard distribution board (DB) with breakers costs approximately ZMK 800-1,500 for residential installations, making them affordable for most homeowners and small businesses . When combined with other electrical materials such as cables, switches, sockets, and conduit, the total cost for a complete home electrical setup ranges from ZMK 5,000 to ZMK 10,000, including professional installation . Individual components like cables can cost ZMK 1,200-2,000, while switches and sockets range from ZMK 500-1,000 .

Supplier Options

Several suppliers in Zambia offer competitive pricing for electrical distribution boxes:

- o Zambia Express provides a wide selection of electrical boxes at competitive prices, with frequent promotions and new arrivals .
- o Agybel Industrial Solutions supplies high-quality electrical components, including DB boards and circuit breakers, with reliable delivery and competitive pricing for both residential and industrial clients .
- o Lightcon Zambia offers precision-engineered electrical components, ensuring durability and compliance with standards, suitable for professional installations .

Installation and Compliance

All electrical installations in Zambia must be performed by a licensed electrician registered with the Engineering Institution of Zambia (EIZ) or the Energy Regulation Board (ERB). ZESCO requires a certificate of compliance before connecting power, so DIY installation is not recommended . Professional labor costs typically range from ZMK 2,000-4,000, which should be factored into the total budget .

Conclusion

Overall, Zambian electrical distribution boxes are reasonably priced, with multiple suppliers offering competitive options. When planning an installation, consider both the cost of the DB board and associated materials, as well as professional installation to ensure compliance with ZESCO regulations and safety standards .
