

Venezuelan outdoor fiber optic cable on special offer

Article Overview

Outdoor fiber optic cables are currently available in Venezuela with special offers through local online marketplaces, and upcoming local production promises improved availability and pricing.

Current Availability and Offers

You can find outdoor fiber optic cables for sale in Venezuela on platforms like Mercado Libre, which offers free same-day shipping and installment payment options, along with various promotions on cable products . These listings typically include different types of outdoor fiber optic cables suitable for telecommunications, internet infrastructure, and industrial applications.

Local Production and Future Supply

Venezuela is establishing its first fiber optic manufacturing plant, Venefibra, in La Guaira, in collaboration with Iran's Modern Data Center (MDC). This plant is expected to strengthen local telecommunications infrastructure, cover domestic demand, and potentially reduce costs for fiber optic cables . The project is part of a strategic alliance between the Venezuelan government, CANTV, and MDC, aiming to provide high-quality fiber optic materials and create new employment opportunities .

International Suppliers

In addition to local production, international suppliers like Feiboer have successfully supplied outdoor and ADSS fiber optic cables to Venezuelan clients, offering customizable solutions with reliable quality and competitive pricing . This indicates that both local and imported options are available for buyers seeking outdoor fiber optic cables.

Recommendations

- o Check online marketplaces like Mercado Libre Venezuela for current promotions and special offers on outdoor fiber optic cables .
- o Monitor Venefibra's production updates, as local manufacturing may improve availability and reduce costs in the near future .
- o Consider international suppliers for specialized or bulk orders, ensuring technical specifications meet your project requirements . By combining local offers, upcoming domestic production, and international suppliers, buyers in Venezuela can access a range of outdoor fiber optic cables at competitive prices.
